

REP. BURTON OPENS G. O. P. CONVENTION

TENTATIVE PLATFORM IS ADOPTED MASCHKE SUCCEEDS RUD HYNICKA

COOLIDGE HAND SEEN IN G. O. P. PLANKS TODAY

Indications are That Document Will Not be Changed From Present Form

Cleveland, June 10.—A tentative Republican platform, drafted by administration leaders, under the personal supervision of President Coolidge was completed today for presentation to the Republican National Convention.

Sweeping aside all conflicting opinions, the President's closest advisers have written a document dominated throughout by the issues which Mr. Coolidge himself selected for the campaign. Governmental economy, a promise of tax reform and a pledge to strengthen this nation's present friendly relations with the rest of the world were the outstanding issues endorsed in the platform.

Before its final adoption by the convention, every dissenting faction will be given an opportunity to amend the platform. A series of public hearings were to be held this afternoon by the convention committee on resolutions, but there was every indication that the document would not be substantially changed from its present form.

Although the platform was technically written by Charles Beecher Warren, former ambassador to Japan, at present ambassador to Mexico, and now chairman of the committee on resolutions, most of the planks were actually prepared by the administration leaders who submitted their proposals for the President's personal approval. Among those active in the document's preparation were Secretary of State Hughes, Secretary of War Weeks, Theodore Roosevelt, Representative Theodore Burton of Ohio; Representative Ogden Mills of New York; Senator Smoot of Utah; Representative Vane of Pennsylvania and C. Bascom Slemp, secretary to the President.

Cleveland, June 10.—Chairman Charles B. Warren of the resolutions committee, announced that a declaration for the Harding-Hughes world court, demanded by President Coolidge, will be written into the Republican platform. An implied slap at congress will be contained in the immigration plank being drafted by Warren. The plank will deplore the fact that the Japanese exclusion law was enacted before the question could be settled by diplomacy. This is also designed to further appease Japan.

Warren, who is ambassador to Mexico, will also insist upon a plank setting forth the cordial relations now existing between the United States and Mexico.

Secretary Weeks has drafted a plank covering prohibition which is said to have the approval of President Coolidge. As drafted it merely makes a strong declaration for law enforcement. Warren and some of the other Coolidge leaders desire to see an expression of sentiment against modification of the Volstead act.

Tentative planks in the Republican platform follow:
Agricultural Relief—While much has been done to improve conditions in agriculture, there is still more to be done in the direction of co-operative marketing, as advocated by the platform of 1920; there should be readjustment of freight rates.

The Great Lakes-St. Lawrence waterway should be opened and interior waterways improved to afford an outlet for agriculture.

Taxation plan similar to that proposed by Secretary Mellon.

The prohibition law should be enforced because disregard of any law begets disrespect for all law.

Rigid economy in public expenditures and a firm stand against any "pork barrel" legislation.

Support of the constitutional amendment to prevent child labor.

Support of a constitutional amendment providing that the terms of the President and members of congress begin in January following the election, instead of March.

Conservative regulation of corporations.

Extension of the merit system to increase problems of patronage.

Extension of American loans for rehabilitation and development of Europe, once the foreign countries accept the recommendation of the Dawes commission.

American participation in the international court of justice established and now functioning at The Hague.

The calling of a conference for a further limitation of armaments, once the reparations question is definitely settled.

GRAVEL ROADS POLICY IS HELD TO BE CORRECT

Boulay Discusses Program Of Highway Department Of Ohio

Columbus, June 10.—In a statement issued by State Highway Director Boulay, it is announced that Ohio will have 920 miles of gravel road when the program of the state highway department for this year is completed.

Gravel highway completed and under maintenance by the state now totals 466.9 miles and 453.1 additional miles are proposed for this year. Of the total mileage completed, 210 miles have been built since Boulay took office last July.

Contrary to the idea generally prevalent, Champaign county, which boasts the finest gravel roads in the state, does not have the greatest mileage, Ross county surpassing it by five miles, with a total of 115. Gravel roads are confined to 33 counties of the state.

While Director Boulay expects to build the 451 miles of gravel road this year, the hard-surface paving program will not be permitted to slip, he said. Counties that have sufficient funds to provide hard-surface roads will be given roads of this type. If traffic is heavy, the department will insist on hard surface rather than gravel, even if the counties have not sufficient funds to build the mileage they need, Boulay said.

In defense of the administration's gravel road policy, Boulay said 500 miles of such road can be built for the same amount of money that would be required to build 50 miles of hard-surface roads. He pointed out that gravel roads can be built at an average cost of $3,000 a mile. Hard-surface roads cost an average of $30,000, an initial cost of $1,500,000 for the 500-mile program. Cost of maintaining gravel roads runs $500 a mile, while hard-surface roads can be kept up for $150. This would entail an annual expenditure of $250,000 for maintenance of 500 miles of gravel roads and $7,500 for the 50 miles of hard-surface. The other 450 miles of mud roads which would be left if the hard-surface types were built would be maintained at an average cost of $275 a mile, thus swelling the cost of maintenance for the hard-surface-mud road program to $132,500, a balance of $110,000 in favor of the hard-surface-mud road program, but leaving 450 miles of mud road.

Boulay said the difference in cost of transportation between maintained gravel roads and unmaintained earth roads is 3 cents a mile. Placing the number of vehicles using these roads at 500 a day for 260 days a year, the saving in cost of transportation over the gravel road and the 450 miles of mud road would total $1,875,000, he said.

OHIO SENATORS MISS SPANKING DURING MEETING

Gathering Monday Night Is Entirely Harmonious It Is Revealed

Cleveland, June 10.—Maurice Maschke of Cleveland was elected a member of the Republican national committee by the Ohio delegation to succeed Rud K. Hynicka of Cincinnati, who announced his resignation several months ago.

Maschke's chances were greatly enhanced by the announcement of Carmi Thompson, associate national manager of Coolidge's pre-convention campaign, that he was for Maschke over all others. Previously Congressman Theodore Burton, convention keynoter, had announced himself for Maschke.

His election took place last night at the meeting of the Ohio delegates at the Hotel Winton, and marked the only contest in an otherwise harmonious gathering, in which both Ohio senators were honored after the stage had been set to "spank" them for their failure to support President Coolidge on his major governmental policies as members of the upper house.

Louis H. Brush, of Salem, O., newspaper publisher, was Maschke's opponent and until the roll was called, it was believed certain that he would win the coveted honor. The vote, however, gave Maschke 27 votes to 24 for Brush, but before Chairman

OHIOANS CHOSEN

Cleveland, O., June 10—Ohioans chosen at last night's caucus:

National Committeeman—Maurice Maschke, Cleveland.

Chairman of the Delegation—Senator Frank B. Willis.

Resolutions—Senator Simeon D. Fess.

Permanent Organization—Mrs. John Gordon Battelle.

Rules and Order of Business—Paul Howland.

Credentials—Frank Ransbottom.

Vice President of Convention—Mrs. Anna S. Tod.

Frank B. Willis could make the announcement, Brush had moved to make the election of Maschke unanimous.

All other convention honors were settled without a hitch or the slightest sign of discord. Harry M. Daugherty, former attorney general, who eliminated himself from the fight for the chairmanship, was the first delegate to answer the roll call for the national committee fight. His vote went to Brush. The cities, as was expected, with the single exception of one delegate from Columbus, voted for Maschke and he picked up scattering votes from rural sections, enough to put him over.

Plans for a fight on the senators fizzled out yesterday when Charles L. Knight, of Akron, refused to stand for membership in the resolutions committee and Paul Howland of Cleveland, declined to make the race for chairman. Knight placed Brush's name before the caucus while Burton nominated Maschke.

AUTHOR COMMITS SUICIDE ON STEPS OF COUNTY MORGUE

San Francisco, June 10.—Funeral arrangements were being made today for Peter Clark MacFarland, 53, former minister, lecturer and author, who committed suicide in dramatic fashion last night on the steps of the county morgue by sending a small bullet through his brain.

Three letters addressed to his intimate friends, were found. The letters told of his eleven years' losing battle with ill health, which he admitted drove him to self destruction.

PRESENTS WET PLANK

Cleveland, June 10.—Ralph B. Strassburger, delegate-at-large to the Republican convention from Pennsylvania, presented his wet plank to the resolutions committee. The plank reads: "The Republican party stands for rigid enforcement of the law. It believes, however, that Volstead act as at present construed does not reflect the will of the majority of the people and that its liberal interpretation to admit the lawful sale of beer and light wines is desirable."

CHURCH WRECKED

Lancaster, O., June 10.—A wind storm destroyed a church, carried a garage a quarter of a mile, uprooted large trees, destroyed crops and many fruit trees and greatly damaged farm buildings at Cedar Hill, eight miles west of here.

TAUNT FRANKS' SLAYERS WITH LILIES.

Sheriff Hoffman, of Chicago, is shown with Easter lilies sent to Richard Loeb and Nathan Leopold, Jr., slayers of Robert Franks, in the Cook County Jail, by some person who signed the name Jane, and who taunted the murderers that, in view of their plight, the flowers were most appropriate.

SEVEN ARE KILLED WHEN PILE OF SLATE CRASHES DOWN UPON HOUSE

Bluefield, W. Va., June 12.—Preparations were being made today for the recovery of the bodies of seven persons, who were killed on Crane creek, late yesterday, when a huge pile of slate, undermined by a cloud-burst, crashed down upon the house.

The body of one member of a rescue party, who was crushed to death while attempting to reach the victims, also remains to be recovered.

After numerous futile attempts to reach the bodies, the rescuers temporarily abandoned their efforts, when it was decided it would be necessary to dig through the wreckage with a steam shovel.

It is hoped the shovel will be placed in operation sometime today.

READJUSTMENT OF RATES OF EXPRESS ARE NOW EFFECTIVE

Washington, June 10.—The interstate commerce commission ordered a readjustment of express rates throughout the country.

General increases were ordered in the eastern zone, approximating 8 per cent, and slight reductions in the west and south.

Fixing the basic rates in 1912, the commission proceeded on the theory that the cost of transporting express in western and southern territory was more expensive than in the east. The investigation resulted in a change in that theory, it having been shown that the cost in the east is higher than in the west, because of extensive free delivery systems and extra terminal service at eastern points, which is not given so generally in the west. The present rates have the 1912 rates as their basis and include several horizontal increases which have been granted since 1912.

The basic rate for the first 50 miles haulage in eastern trunk line territory is now approximately 15 cents. Under the readjustment the rate would be approximately 26 cents. The southern basic rate of 20 cents, which was horizontally increased to 30 cents, would be decreased to approximately 28½ cents. In the prairie states the basic rate of 24 cents, which was horizontally increased to 35 cents, will be readjusted to about 31 cents. The mountain territory basic rate of 28 cents, increased to 38 cents since 1912, will be brought down to approximately 31 cents. The west coast rate of 24 cents, horizontally increased since 1912 to 35 cents, would be reduced to about 31 cents.

EXTRA SESSION OF CONGRESS POSSIBLE

Washington, June 10.—There is a possibility of an extra session as a sequel to the failure of congress to pass the urgent deficiency bill, which was lost in the closing hours of the session.

As a result no money is provided to make the 25 per cent reduction in current taxes authorized by the new tax bill to those who paid their full taxes in March. No funds are available to prepare during the summer for distribution of the soldier bonus, and issuance of the policies may be delayed almost a year. The coast guard is left without funds to employ more than 4,000 officers and seamen to man his new defense fleet. Its operations will virtually be brought to a standstill.

In addition to these embarrassments, congress also let slide the bill appropriating more than $100,000,000 for construction of eight new cruisers and modernization of the fleet.

FATAL AUTO CRASH

Cincinnati, June 10.—Police seek the driver of a large touring car that sped away after killing William W. Bulford, 24, Bulford, driving a light truck to a camp along the Little Miami river, was knocked from the road at Terrace park, the truck overturning.

SMOTHERED TO DEATH

Lisbon, O., June 10.—Pinned face downward to the floor by a falling rock, Arthur McGaffick, 41, coal miner, was smothered to death in the Beaver Coal and Clay Company's mine at Coleman Station, west of here today. He leaves a wife and one daughter.

VICTIM AN OHIOAN

Detroit, June 10.—The body of a man found shot to death here in front of an alleged "blind pig" was identified as being that of Albert Koegel, 25, Akron, O.

POINTS TO REPUBLICAN ACCOMPLISHMENTS AND WARNS OF 3RD PATRY

"Keynoter" In Thinly Veiled Admonition to Insurgents Points Out Fatality of Following New Political Organization at This Time

Convention Hall, Cleveland, O., June 10.—The Republican national convention was formally put under way in Cleveland's beautiful auditorium this morning with the quiet precision of a well oiled machine. No fuss, no feathers, no disorder, and what noise there was, was almost lost in the magnificent great open spaces of the hall.

The picture presented when the opening gavel fell was theatrical rather than political. The hall was almost cathedral like in its vastness and beauty.

"For the last twenty years I have had the soot from the rafters of the old coliseum sift down my back whenever anybody disturbed the air by yelling real loud," said an old timer, "here I feel as though I am in church. If that organ would just strike up 'Nearer my God to Thee,' I'd shut my eyes and swear it was Sunday."

Cleveland certainly showed the hosts of Republicans something new in the way of conventions. It was an artistic triumph, however, cut and dried, the politics of the meeting might be.

The delegates just sat and looked at the spaciousness, the soft rose and violet light shed down from the lofty ceiling, and remarked about the absence of the familiar bunting and red, white and blue decorations. There was none of the old familiar panoply and display of other conventions.

After listening to Burton's keynote speech and adopting routine resolutions pertaining to rules and committee the convention adjourned at 1:40 until 10 o'clock tomorrow morning.

By GEORGE R. HOLMES

Convention Hall, Cleveland, O., June 10.—Pointing backward with a proud finger at Republican accomplishments during the past four years, and peering ahead into the future with a promise of further constructive administration if President Coolidge is given the necessary working majority in congress, Representative Theodore Burton formally opened the Republican national convention here today, and in doing so uttered a significant warning to Republicans that there is no room in this country for a third party.

The speech of Representative Burton did more than merely open the convention in the familiar color and panoply of great political gatherings. It set forth with considerable definiteness the issues upon which President Coolidge will seek the sanction of the electorate for a continuance of Republican power.

The reference to a third party was sandwiched in between his citation of Republican achievement and the promises for the future and on every hand, it was construed as a thinly veiled admonition to the insurgents within the party not to depart from the roadway of regularity in search of new and strange political gods.

TENDENCY MANIFEST
"A tendency toward third party movements is manifest wherever parliamentary government exists," said Representative Burton, after a lengthy review of the party's record in Washington.

"This has been true of most of the countries in continental Europe for years. The effect is inevitably demoralizing, involving failure in constructive policies, and oftentimes controlled by a minority or combination of minorities. The whole theory of orderly and parliamentary government demands that the people divide into two parties on outstanding questions of supreme importance, thus forming political organizations based upon certain fundamental principles, while minor considerations are relegated to a secondary position.

"If we should tread the path which so many other countries have trod, with disastrous results, inefficiency and confusion would be the outcome and there would be an expression, not of majority will, but the will of groups and sections."

There was no direct reference to menace of a third party presented by the LaFollette and allied insurgent groups within the party, but none of his hearers had any doubt as to what this particular portion of the keynote speech referred to.

EXPRESSES RESENTMENT

Further on, he expressed the party's resentment at "blooms" and vociferous minorities and declared that "much of the blame that is visited upon Republicans in the present congress is not deserved, because on many major questions their party has not commanded a majority in either branch."

This was a marked allusion to the balance of power held in the present congress by the LaFollette and his militant band of insurgents, who on more than one occasion demonstrated their ability to swing the tide either for or against the administration.

"Let us not for a minute forget," Representative Burton continued, "the importance of a Republican majority in the next congress made up of members tried and true, who will stand united."

The country, Burton said, looks to President Coolidge for leadership. "With some disappointment as one whose public service has been in a legislative position, truth compels me to say," he declared, "that by far the greater share of our citizenship looks to President Coolidge rather than to congress for leadership."

GOES CALMLY ON
As a candidate for the presidency and this in the midst of temptations stronger than those by which the angels fell, he has shown no trucking no scheming for votes, but has gone calmly and steadily on his way unaffected by the lure of expediency or the promise of success.

Even while deploring some of the acts of the present congress, Burton declared that on the whole the record of Republican administration during the past four years presents an achievement almost unparalleled in history.

CABLE QUALIFIES FOR NOMINATION

Columbus, June 10.—Congressman John L. Cable of Lima filed his declaration of candidacy for the Republican nomination for governor with the secretary of state. Cable is the fourth to file in the Republican gubernatorial race, the others being: James A. White, State Senator John F. Burke and former Governor Harry L. Davis.

Joseph B. Sieber, Akron attorney, announced that he would be a candidate for the Republican nomination for governor.

Earl D. Bloom of Bowling Green filed his declaration of candidacy for the Democratic nomination as Lieutenant governor in 1919-20 and again in 1923-24.

John H. Chester of Paulding county, member of the "legislative club," president of the "Cornstalk club," has given notice of his intention to campaign for the office of Lieutenant governor. Chester has fled the state.

Attorney General Crabbe has fled the state. He will not enter the race for the nomination for governor.

GIRLS! WHITEN SKIN WITH LEMON JUICE

The only harmless way to bleach the skin white is to mix the juice of two lemons with three ounces of Orchard White, which any druggist will supply for a few cents. Shake well in a bottle, and you have a whole quart-pint of the most wonderful skin whitener, softener and beautifier.

Massage this sweetly fragrant lemon bleach into the face, neck, arms and hands. It can not irritate. Famous stage beauties use it to bring that clear, youthful skin and rosy-white complexion; also as a freckle, sunburn, and tan bleach. You must mix this remarkable lotion yourself. It can not be bought ready to use because it acts best immediately after it is prepared.

THE REAL CRIMINALS

Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler, president of the largest university in this republic, says the prohibitory law can never be enforced because it never should have been passed. He says it is a forcible interference with the food and drink of the people, and is a form of oppression to which a free people will never submit.

But the National Prohibition law was passed after fifty years of free discussion and debate, and after more than half the states of the Union had voted for state prohibition. It was not forced on a free people by a few fanatics, but was the deliberate act of a Congress representing the will of a free people, after arriving at the conclusion that the use of intoxicating liquor was not only harmful to the person, but a direct injury to the nation in its political, industrial and social welfare.

The editor of the Christian Herald is in receipt of a letter from the distinguished head of an eastern magazine, a graduate of a leading university, a man of wealth and influence, who says that his grandfather and father before him had their liquor on their sideboards, and drank without harm to themselves or others, and he intends to go on getting his liquor in spite of any national law, resenting the law's interference with his personal habits. His letter says further that the writer's views are those of many others like himself who do not intend to be deprived of a personal pleasure simply because of the law, even if it is a part of the nation's constitution.

Which raises the question: "Who are the real criminals—the bootleggers or the drinkers?" If those gentlemen who have been in the habit of drinking, and resent anything that interferes with their personal habits, were to give up those habits for the sake of general welfare, the bootleggers would have to go out of business. Their occupation would be gone at once. It looks to us that in all that is being said in the way of denouncing the law-breakers and the officers of the law who do not enforce it, the public is losing sight of the real criminals. The real criminals are not only the sellers, but the drinkers.

There is a good verse in the Bible which says, "If meat cause my brother to offend I will eat no meat as long as the world standeth." There is another which says, "We, then, that are strong, ought to bear the infirmities of the weak, and not to please ourselves."

We commend these verses to President Butler and the distinguished head of the eastern magazine. At the same time we would suggest that if they really wish to see the prohibitory law enforced, as they stand agast at its non-enforcement, a good way to begin would be for them to sign the pledge and start a pledge-signing campaign among the men of their acquaintance.—Christian Herald.

THIS MEANS WEST VIRGINIA CAN'T SHUT OFF OUR NATURAL GAS

Herbert Hoover, secretary of Commerce declared last week that the electrical industry would break down if the burden of government ownership were placed upon it. His words were telephoned from his office in Washington to 5,000 members of the National Electric Light Association in convention at Atlantic City and were broadcast from New York, Washington, Schenectady, Chicago and Providence to more than 5,000,000 radio fans. "No bureaucracy with a board of directors of 580 congressmen and senators would have made the electrical discoveries of the last 60 years or pioneered their application," Mr. Hoover said. "Our political system will not develop for generations to come to a point where it will have either the capacity to choose skill or the assured probity to operate these implements." Mr. Hoover declared for co-operation between private industries. He criticized harshly the "selfish" policy of some states in prohibiting the free flow of electric power across their boundaries. "Unless we have a liquid flow of power we shall have permanently a larger cost, less reliability of service and imperfect utilization of our coal and water resources," he added. "We can not secure super-power development unless there is a free flow of power across state lines. Furthermore, I am advised that no embargo can be constitutionally placed upon the free flow of power across state boundaries."

CITY-WEARY

Come, let's get out of here! Out of the din of it.
Out of the bickering, out of the sin of it.
Out of the smoke of it, out of the noise of it.
Out of the pitiful, lean, leering joys of it.
Come on, let's go
To a hill top I know,
Where the air is washed clean,
And the trees are a-gleam
With the gold of the sun,
And there's naught to be done
Save to lie there and look
At life's beauties and dream.

Come, let's get out of here! Out of the stress of it,
Out of the paint and the powder and dress of it,
Out of the cry at the loss or the gain of it.
Out of the hurt and the grief and the pain of it.
Let's slip away
To the fields for a day,
Where there is nothing
On counters and shelves,
Nothing to strive for,
To work or contrive for,
Let's leave the city
And just be ourselves.

Come, let's get out of here! Out of the crush of it,
Out of the bedlam and out of the rush of it,
Out of the sham of it, out of the heat of it,
Out of the withering, scornful contempt of it.
Come on! Let's go
Where the clean breezes blow,
Out where the splendors
Are all that they seem;
Let's merely walk a-while,

Ponder and talk awhile,
Giving our souls
The full sweep of a dream.

Bride: "I have heard about some kind of linoleum polish made with beeswax, which makes linoleum last longer and look brighter. Can you tell me how to make it?"

Answer: You probably refer to the following: Combine one part of beeswax and two parts of turpentine (by weight), dissolve over mild heat. Be sure to rub this polish well into the linoleum.

Z. Y. L.: "How can I clean a champagne-colored corduroy waist which is soiled?"

Answer: Use gasoline, benzine or chloroform, doing the work out of doors or at least far from heat and flame. If only spotted here and there, the waist may be cleansed with a piece of white muslin dipped in one of these fluids; but if very badly soiled it will have to be immersed in a basin filled with gasoline, soaked up and down, and then rinsed in another basin of clean gasoline. Hang on the clothesline several days till the odor has evaporated.

Mrs. F. R.: "Please tell me how to varnish a new floor."

Answer: You did not say whether your new floors are open-grained or closed-grained. If open-grained buy a good siliceous paste filler which has finely powdered, needle-like quartz particles which when imbedded in the floor result in a smooth surface. Sand paper the floor before you apply this filler (if you wish to stain before siliceous filler). Twenty-four hours after applying the filler, sandpaper the floor lightly and apply a coat of floor varnish; let dry 48 hours, then sandpaper lightly again and apply a second coat of varnish. This is the final finish if you prefer a shiny surface. But if

In newspapers and booklets we are constantly publishing letters from women, who explain how they were helped by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

These letters should guide you. If you are troubled with pains and nervousness, or any feminine disorder, bear in mind that the Vegetable Compound has helped other women and should help you. For sale by druggists everywhere.

Today's Talks

PLEASE—THANK YOU
I was coming up in the elevator of my office building today and it occurred to me to note how many people said "please" to the elevator man. Only about half of them did.

And then I got to thinking of the hard day of the elevator man. I remembered that I was once an elevator man, and how it cheered me to hear people ask for their floors with a "please."

The thing that most impressed me in Drinkwater's play, "Abraham Lincoln," which I saw several years ago, was the way and the number of times that Lincoln said: "Thank you." No kindness was too small to merit that beautiful "Thank you."

Every time you say "Please" or "Thank you," you put a higher value on human companionship and join anew the throng of human brotherhood.

Somehow I like to look into the face of the man or woman who always says "Please" and "Thank you." I am almost sure to see something unusually fine there.

I commend the courtesy of the telephone girl who uses these words so many hundreds of times a day, and doesn't show irritation in the face of a real strain.

"Please" has melted many a hard heart and "Thank you" has brought many an appreciative smile.

It pays in every way to be courteous and considerate.

The other day I learned of a man who changed his trading of thousands of dollars from one firm to another because the latter firm had a larger number of Pleases and Thank-yous in it.

Make "Please" and "Thank You" two of your best habits.

VETERAN HORSEMAN DISCOVERS CERTAIN CURE FOR RHEUMATISM

Tried Many Preparations Without Avail Until Wife Brought 'Neutrone Prescription 99'—Then Relief Came.

stubborn the case," said Mr. Thomas Boyer, well-known horseman, of 53 Broadway, Newburgh, N. Y. "I am 58 years old, and weigh over 225 pounds, and this is some weight to carry when one has rheumatism in the legs the way I have suffered the last two years. It affected me so bad that I could not stand and it seemed as if I never could get on my feet without making two or three attempts.

"At times the pain was unbearable, and would get my nerve. I spent a lot of money on doctors and medicine but got no better. My wife bought me a box of Neutrone Prescription '99' Tablets, and I started taking them. This seemed to be just what I needed; I was helped right from the start.

"So far I have taken five boxes and I feel like a new man. I work every day, all swellings and pains have left my legs and I am so active and spry on my feet that everyone notices the change. Neutrone Rx. '99' knocked out my rheumatism when everything else had failed and I believe it will do all it claims for anyone who will give it a fair trial.

Neutrone Prescription '99' now comes in tablet as well as liquid form, whichever is preferred. Leading Druggists everywhere.

GOVERNMENT BUYS PRIZE BULL FROM GREENE COUNTIAN

J. C. Short, livestock breeder of the Stone Road, has sold his prize bull, Pilot's Noble O'Kellairn, No. 151, 322, to the United States Department of Animal Husbandry, and left Tuesday with the bull for Jeanerette, La., where the animal will be placed on an experimental farm. Jeanerette is located south of New Orleans.

The bull will be eight years old next fall, according to Mr. Short, and is a Jersey. It has been exhibited by E. S. Kelly, of Whitehall Farms, Yellow Springs, at state fairs and carried off honors. The animal was sold to a government agent for $500.

PURCHASES HOUSTON LAND AT COST OF MORE THAN $300,000

Howard C. Park, of Columbus, has purchased the Houston land, known as "Houstonia" near London, for the benefit of the creditors of the late Foster M. Houston and the Houston Farm Co., and as a representative of the Ohio Seed and Products Company.

The tract of land purchased is comprised of 3,473 acres. The price paid was $100 per acre for 500 acres on which the "Mansion" is located and $90 per acre for the remainder, making the total purchase price more than $300,000.

The Ohio Seed and Products Company, which has occupied the land for more than two months, has a force of workmen employed planting seeds, bulbs, shrubbery, etc., with a view to having a large nursery business started in a short time.

The farm is seven miles north of London on the London-Marysville Pike.

MODISH MITZI—Well, She Has This Off Her Mind!

BY JAY V. JAY

Mitzi and the Goofer have done most of the worrying about this wedding. Harry and Adelaide have been too much in love—walking around in rosy mists and that sort of thing.

The bridesmaids' dresses are of white French organdie over rose and orchid satin slips. They are worn with hats and not-too-large bouquets in colors to match the slips.

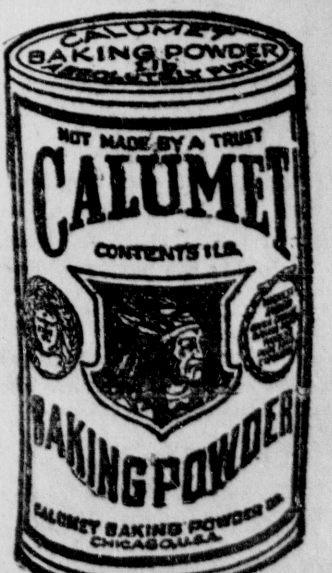

The maid of honor—Mitzi, of course—wears madonna blue chiffon with trailing drapes and flounces. The bride's headress is of cloth of silver, her dress of white Georgette crepe, both embroidered with pearls. She looks very handsome, don't you think?

The groom is correct but unimportant. The Goofer is serving nobly by having the ring ready at the exactly right moment. And now that they have all posed for their pictures we shall let the ceremony go on.

FLOOD WATERS IN MIAMI VALLEY ARE SLOWLY RECEDING

Dayton, Jun 10—After being swollen to enormous proportions by the heavy rainstorms early Sunday morning throughout the Miami Valley, a gradual decline has been noticed in the Big Miami River, which is expected to continue to recede slowly.

Reports from the Miami Conservancy District said a drop of six inches was noticed in the river between 5 and 10 o'clock Monday night.

It was also said that all the dams were functioning perfectly. Towns throughout the Miami Valley are reporting a steady drainage of the lowlands. Traction and rail service is nearly back to normal.

Great throngs visited the Englewood Dam sector Monday where water in great torrents, and in some places forty-eight feet deep, poured through the conduits into the river. Clear weather is predicted for Tuesday by the government weather bureau.

Springfield, June 10—The flood damage in and near Springfield could not be estimated, but from scattered reports available, it is thought that nearly $100,000 will have to be expended to repair the damage inflicted by the high waters.

At the waterworks, the recently erected Cofferdam, was totally demolished, and numerous filter beds were destroyed.

Street car service was thrown off its regular schedule Sunday afternoon because of nine feet of water in the power plant, that temporarily threw the generators out of commission. Springfield manufacturing districts were the hardest hit by the high waters, but are unable to estimate their losses.

MONEY AT WORK

Brief but Important Lessons in Finance, Markets, Stocks, Bonds and Investments

No matter how devious the route of tax collection may be, the consumer pays the tax, in the last analysis.

By A. W. WARNER
Veteran Financial Writer and Newspaper Man.

Many years ago a man dropped his tax on purchases into a tax box which the government kept in each store after paying for his goods. It was clear that neither the storekeeper nor the manufacturer paid the tax on the goods which he bought.

Now he pays for his goods and the tax all in one lump, which makes the goods higher priced. If taxes are raised, prices are too. He probably thinks the manufacturer and the storekeeper are paying the tax. They aren't. They are merely collecting it just as they did years ago.

The only difference between the old system and the new is the indirect method of collecting; the consumer still pays the tax.

CHARACTER TELLS THE STORY!

People throughout this country are giving more thought to hygiene and to the purity of remedies on the market, but no one doubts the purity of Doctor Pierce's vegetable medicines, for they have been so favorably known for over fifty years that everyone knows they are just what they are claimed to be. These medicines are the result of long research by a well-known physician, R. V. Pierce, M. D., who compounded them from health-giving herbs and roots long used in sickness by the Indians. Dr. Pierce's reputation as a leading and honored citizen of Buffalo, is a sufficient guarantee for the purity of that splendid tonic and blood medicine the Golden Medical Discovery, and the equally fine nerve tonic and system builder for women's ailments, Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. ## OHIO THREATENED WITH SMALLPOX, COUNTY HEALTH COMMISSIONER R. H. GRUBE WARNS

Ohio is seriously threatened with virulent smallpox, according to information received by Dr. R. H. Grube, county health commissioner, from the state department of health at Columbus.

Will Cast Twentieth Presidential Vote.

ASKS FOR REVIEW OF CASE
Columbus, June 10—Ohio supreme court was asked to rehear the case in which it interpreted a moving picture show as a theatrical performance and automatically placed it under the Sunday closing law. Walter K. Richards, a moving picture show operator of Findlay, plaintiff in the first case, asked the review.

Local physicians are advising vaccination to overcome the spread of disease.

The disease, as it has struck other cities, is in an entirely different form than that with which Xenia was stricken a few years ago. The present scourge, according to Dr. Grube, is in a malignant form, and is much more dangerous. People who were demic are thought to be safe from the vaccinated at the time of the last epidemic, but where anyone comes in contact with a case, re-vaccination is advised by doctors, as a precautionary measure.

In the city of Detroit, there have been 1,342 cases since January 1, 1924. During the two weeks ending May 31, there were 182 cases and 50 deaths, a case fatality rate of over 27 per cent. Smallpox in virulent form is still one of the most fatal diseases that affect mankind, according to physicians. The spread of the disease into Ohio is threatened owing to the nearness of the state to Detroit and other cities infected with the disease.

MAY LAY CLAIM TO IMMENSE ESTATE

Dayton, June 10.—Mrs. Madeline Corby Morgan, 212 West Norman Avenue, may institute a legal battle to secure for her daughter, Marie Theresa Corby, aged 4, her rights to the $4,000,000 estate left by Thomas W. Corby, 80 year old Detroit Multimillionaire who died Sunday.

The Dayton woman married Corby in 1920, shortly after she arrived in this country from Belgium. His first wife, with whom he had lived sixty years, died in 1916. Shortly after her marriage, Mrs. Corby went on a trip to Europe and claims that on her return her husband refused to allow her to enter his home.

Mrs. Corby obtained a divorce, a $50,000 settlement and custody of the child, and later married Morgan. Corby amassed his fortune in the lumber business when a young man and retired.

There are only nieces and nephews to claim his immense estate, it is said, and Mrs. Morgan may institute proceedings to protect the interests of his child, the nearest surviving relative.

ODD CRAZE FOR SOUVENIRS

Chrysanthemums Abstracted by Women From Church Following Wedding in New York.

Beyond any contest, the Pickwick club has left many descendants in the persons of ladies and gentlemen who seek and whenever they are able will here and there small objects of interest. Savants tell us that we all have a prehensile, acquisitive instinct, so we are not surprised at the gathering of these objects. What is surprising is that some of them should interest anyone who held himself or herself above a jackdaw, but souvenirs have a wonderful fascination for a great many people, and they do not seem always to be over nice as to the means of getting them.

From soldiers' buttons to pictures in galleries, from commemorative plates to chips from a monument, all seems to be grist to these mills, and the latest edifying instance of this was at a wedding in New York. On this occasion the female souvenir hunters appeared in strong force and were active as usual, though it does not appear that they injured the bride or the bridegroom. The wedding, says the dispatch, "naturally attracted a large crowd, but the police kept the curious well in hand. . . . After the ceremony several young women managed to get into the church and took some of the chrysanthemums as souvenirs."

Bless their hearts, of course they did, and no fair-minded man can refrain from respecting them for not taking the pews. You will note, too, that they did not snatch the bride's bouquet out of her hands and that no male souvenir hunter walked off with the bridegroom's top hat. Such moderation must be commended. But what did the young women see in the chrysanthemums that was of interest? There was, of course, a little value in them, although there could not have been much left after being in the close church.

Did they think that one of these flowers put under the pillow would bring a millionaire husband to the young female who had pinched it? It is a riddle, like most of the performances of the souvenir hunter, and to our thinking wonderfully silly. Compared to this the hero worship of the gentleman who had shaken the hand that had shaken the hand of Sullivan was a reasonable and creditable sentiment. Besides, by the time that chrysanthemums have an odor it is a very unpleasant one.—Boston Transcript.

Wife's Spirit Blamed for Man's Sudden Death

Bayonne, N. J.—Detectives investigated the strange death of Max Micholek, found dead in his home, 88 East Twenty-sixth street, Bayonne, three weeks after his dying wife's threat that she "would come back for him." An autopsy was ordered.

George Micholek, eldest son, told the police his father was brutal, driving him from his home when he was a small boy. He said he had returned only when hearing of his mother's illness. The father, he asserted, had abused Mrs. Micholek just before her death, and she then made the threat she "would come back after him." A few minutes later she died. Relatives told the police they believe some mysterious influence caused his death.

The CARE-FREE COLUMN

COPYRIGHT 1924 by G. W. G.

It is not enough to make the work of washing care-free. The washer itself should be care-free.

The Coffield has been making women care-free on washdays for over 20 years, because it is not a complicated washing machine, but a washer that needs no watching, no oiling, nothing to adjust, nothing to lift out and put back.

There is nothing in the tub but the washing, and suds and water flushes through everything over a thousand times in fifteen minutes.

Makes the prettiest, cleanest clothes that ever came out of suds.

SUGGESTS FOR HOME GARDENS

Transplanting, in addition to its practical uses in lengthening the season and giving vegetables and flowers a head start, has a real cultural value. Each transplanting gives a thicker and more sturdy root system to the plant. Plants which, left to themselves, would depend largely upon a single root sent straight down, are induced to make a large system of branching roots by transplanting and this, in the long run, gives a more extensive feeding system.

This fact is recognized in the frequent transplanting of nursery stock, the fibrous roots developing through transplanting and enabling the nurseryman to remove larger shrubs and trees with balls of earth held by the mass of fibrous roots than if they had been left to grow without moving. Transplanting also gives a wide scope in the selection of good individual specimens and a wider choice in location and early May gardening operations. It is the chief work of the late April.

When seedlings crowd the seed boxes and the hot beds and cold frames, the seedlings may be selected and the rest discarded, as a packet of seeds with ordinary care usually produces a great many more plants than are needed or can well be used in the average garden.

With seedlings in convenient boxes or frames, the gardener has time to give ground for the young plants thorough preparation and to study out locations if he has not already prepared a plan of his garden which too often happens. The seedlings, both in boxes and frames, should have a period of hardening off by as much exposure to the open air as is practicable before they are moved into permanent quarters. Some of them will have to be transplanted into other boxes before they can be put into the open ground, but the second transplanting will do no harm and they should have bigger root systems when the final move into permanent quarters is made.

Those which are given only one move direct from seed box or bed to their garden quarters. Transplanting is careful work, slow, and at times tedious, but important and necessary for garden success.

It is ancient and common sense advice that the best days for transplanting are cool, cloudy ones and that it is best to transplant before a shower, a proceeding which is a matter of guesswork at best but with fair chances during showery April.

The beds in the garden where the plants are to be placed should be in fine tilth to receive them. The tiny roots from the sifted earth of the seed boxes and frames will not penetrate lumpy soil as quickly as if they have a fine and friable medium and they will not take hold as quickly in poorly prepared soil as in the bed well pulverized and fertilized.

Set the seedlings deeper than they stood in the seed box or frame. Often they will have long necks from stretching towards the light. Plant them halfway to the first pair of leaves. In the case of cabbages and members of its family, many gardeners plant so that the seed leaves are just above the surface of the soil.

Unless the seedlings can be moved with their root system unbroken and some soil clinging to it, the best plan is to snip off the ends of the leaves about halfway to equalize for the root disturbance so that the broken root system will not have the burden of supporting a full leaf system. The plants adjust themselves much more quickly with this snipping process carried on consistently. Seedling onions should be cut off a third of the way and transplanted lettuce should have half the leaf cut off.

Firm the seedlings well into the ground and water thoroughly. It is a good plan to pour a little water into the hole as the seedling is set into it and then water again after the soil is filled in and firmed. A dibber is an excellent instrument for rapidly making the holes for the tiny plants and it makes a tapering cavity adaptable to the taper of the root system.

Usually a gardener is likely to forget his distances and start to setting the seedlings closer and closer together as the tiny plants look lonely when first set out at proper distances. The safest way is to carry a ruler in your pocket or to cut a stick the required distance and use it for each plant. Then distances will be uniform and the bed will present a much neater appearance when the planting is completed.

Brilliance of color, a characteristic of annuals which makes them the ideal material for the flower garden, is nowhere found in greater quantity or variety than in the phloxes, known as Phlox Drummondii, all descendants of a native of the Texas prairies. There is no more easily grown annual, none quicker to come into bloom and none to give a more lavish display.

Ranging in color from white to glowing scarlets, crimsons and maroons with purple and lavender shades and with many beautiful-eyed shaded and variegated types as well as peculiarly fringed and cut petalled types, this annual offers wonderful material for summer bedding.

Seed may be sown at any time now in the open ground and the plants transplanted to their permanent quarters later, giving them from six to eight inches apart. They revel in rich soil and sunshine. There are two distinct types of this annual which have been developed known as the grandiflora type and the dwarf type. The former gives the largest flowering and most robust plants, growing to a foot in height with clusters of large flowers with round overlapping petals. The dwarf or nana compacta type is the best for ribbon bedding or massing. These plants seldom grow over eight inches in height and are a mass of bloom from early summer on, in wonderful ranges of coloring. The fading flower spikes should be kept cut to prolong the season of bloom. If left to themselves they often bloom themselves to death.

Phlox Drummondii are particularly valuable for planting among perennial borders where the early perennials have finished blooming, or for covering for bulb beds. Groups of three or four of them tucked into any vacant spots in the garden will give a fine flash of color. They are also useful for planting among late blooming gladioli to furnish color while the bulbs are making their early growth. As the gladioli rise above them and the first flash of bloom is over they can be pulled out to give a free field to the gladioli. The fringed and star types are more curious than beautiful but offer an interesting variety. They are smaller flowered than the two types which are more popular and more usually employed in the garden. All are fine for cutting.

LEAGUE NEEDS WORKERS TO INSTITUTE MORE CONSTRUCTIVE PROGRAM SECRETARY REPORTS

During the month of May, the Social Service League gave relief service to six cases of illness; 17 widows; sixteen where there were insufficient wages in the family; two cases of insanity and one case caused by the criminality of the father in the home, according to the report of Mrs. L. R. Robertson, executive secretary, at the monthly board meeting, Monday night.

"Many cases arose from a combination of circumstances, one of the most vital being the childhood environment caused by the parents, causing undernourishment, among the children, developing into ambitionless energy-lacking men and women, usually untrained in habits of thrift," Mrs. Robertson declares.

"These people need training applied with firmness and kindness. When inclined to judge them harshly, will the public not stop and count its own blessings for having had efficient partnership?"

"Many appeals have been made at the League during the past few weeks for employment. Frequently a supporter of the league remarks: 'Why should the league assist that family, the man in the home is making good wages, and working every day? What is often not considered is the fact that this man may have had only occasional days work in the past months, debts have piled up, perhaps the wife or children have been ill and the family needs moral as well as financial support. The great need of the league is enough workers to put on a fuller constructive program.'

The relief given out by the league in May included medicine, dental work, baby foods, and supplies for the baby clinic, 471 quarts of milk at a cost of $52.71, coal and groceries, costing $29, clothing valued at $54 and some furniture and bedding.

The League Board will not meet during the months of July and August, the officials being given power to pay the bills during these months.

Mrs. H. A. Hoffman, in charge of the Kiwanis-League baby clinics. Two clinics have been held, the work taking twenty and one half hours, and necessitating thirty-five visits. Twenty-five children have been cared for at the clinics.

The instruction includes teaching the mothers how to prepare the milk for the infants, and in some cases the Social Service League is providing the milk and orange juices.

Instructions in dieting, boiling the water they use, and other important lessons are given the mothers. "I have yet to find any of these people who have ever boiled their drinking water, many of them getting it from a well in common with a whole neighborhood," Mrs. Hoffman said in her report.

"It is hard to show results in such work, as we are doing, as the great idea of this work is preventative treatment. Our ambition is to keep things from happening to the young children and babies by instructing their mothers in the proper way of caring for them so that they may lead normal, healthy lives."

CASE RE-HEARING ASKED OF COURT

Columbus, June 10—Re-hearing of the case of Walter K. Richards, Findlay motion picture exhibitor, in which the legality of Sunday movies in Ohio was denied by the State Supreme Court today.

Counsel for Richards, in filing for re-hearing, cited a previous ruling of the State Supreme Court in which it held "interpretation of doubtful statutes are to be resolved in favor of the accused."

The courts ruling in Richards case was inconsistent with this precedent, it was charged, because movies were interpreted as theatricals, although they are not specifically mentioned in the statute.

VISITING FIREMEN STA RTLE CONVENTION CROWDS--DELEGATE S HEAVY WITH BADGES

Convention Hall, Cleveland, O., your life, elbow into the navy recruit- ing stations. They don't open until 9 a.m.

Those persons who went into Con- vention Hall today to work were not an ounce under 337 pounds. It was the badges that made them heavy.

The national committee issued badges galore of all kinds. Some are for tele- graph operators, photographers, cor- respondents, members of conventions and others. The badges are made of battleship armor plate and hang to the breast as tightly as a sash weight.

If you have one kind of badge you are entitled to enter number four tele- phone booth just inside the main en- trance, but you can go nowhere else.

Other badges will let you into the boiler room of the hall, but mean nothing in the press section. The so- lution was for every one to carry from fifteen to twenty badges in order to get from one place to another.

Workers coming in, clanked like a second floor foundry caving in on a hardware shop. Chairman John T. Adams, who had to get around more than anyone else, made a noise like two hardware stores. He wore sand ballast bags over his shoulders to even the weight on his coat lapel.

John Philip Sousa, lieutenant com- mander of the navy, who kept up the morale of the war fighters during the war with bands he made at Great Lakes was one of the first of the nationally known to arrive and was conducted out to the end of the long speakers platform. His coat had more braid than a ten cent store and more gold lace than an admiral of the Spanish navy. He looked like the king of Siam and got a big hand from the crowd.

The women of the press can lay off their diet for a month after this show. The workroom for the writers is in the sub-basement which is reached by three steps less than there are in the Washington monument and 14 less than in the Statue of Liberty.

THIN CROWD AT CABINET MEETING

Washington, June 10—President Coolidge had a cabinet meeting to- day.

Only the secretary of state and the secretary of commerce were there. Coolidge, Hughes and Hoover dis- cussed pending governmental questions briefly and then tuned in on the White House radio set to hear the music from Cleveland as the dele- gates assembled.

I-A LINK WITH THE FUTURE

"I'd give anything in the world if I could get into the movies!" Madge told me as we left the Star Theater and turned toward home. "It must be such heaps of fun—the pleasantest way in the world to earn a lot of money—and you'd know such interesting people and travel around to all sorts of places. Oh, I wish I could leave this old town and try to get in at least!"

I didn't say anything about it just then, even though Madge was my chum, but I'd been thinking that same thing for months. I'd always wanted to get into pictures ever since the days when I had my first movie crush—on Mae Marsh. And since I'd graduated from high school the year before I'd thought more about it than ever.

You see, there really wasn't much of anything for a girl to do in our town. You could go back to high school and take what they called the college preparatory course, which included stenography and bookkeeping. I took it, but I skipped those two studies because I certainly never wanted to settle down and be a stenographer or bookkeeper. One of the girls I knew went into the library as assistant, but that seemed sort of drab to me, too. And one of the girls went East to boarding school. Father would have let me do that, but my sister was going to get married the winter after I graduated from high school, and there were lots of parties being given and I thought I'd rather stay home. I had a pretty good time there, but I never meant for a minute to settle down; I always thought that when I found out just what career I was fitted for—and I knew it would be a pretty big one—I'd go ahead and be something. And I'd decided, just a few days before, that day when Madge and I walked home from the movies and she confessed her longing to go into pictures, that I'd be a movie star.

We'd seen Norma Talmadge that day in "Smilin' Through" for the second time; it had played our town earlier in the season and been shown again by request. I was crazy about it, but Madge didn't care for it so much.

"I'd like to play emotional parts, but I'd like to wear awfully good-looking clothes, too," she said. "Lillian Gish never dresses up much. I wouldn't want to be like that."

Privately, I decided that I'd give my eyes right out of my head to play parts like that, though I do think I'd like wearing gowns like Norma Talmadge's better than just having scrubby things. I thought it all over once more after I'd left Madge, and imagined what the life of a great star would be. I could just see her waking late in the morning and having breakfast on a chaise longue before a wonderful open fire, with flowers everywhere and great heaps of mail from admirers all over the world and interesting men telephoning to make engagements for luncheon and dinner.

For that letter from Persis linked me with the world I wanted to enter.

and the evening. I knew the star would probably have to work during the day, but then think of coming home and being dressed for a gorgeous dinner party and going from it to the first night of a wonderful play, with people everywhere recognizing you and pointing you out as a great and talented star! It seemed so vivid to me that I couldn't help thinking maybe I was meant for that sort of thing. And I went up our front steps imagining myself entering one of the famous New York hotels for supper after the theater with Richard Dix and Reginald Denny with me and a gay crowd waiting.

My sister's voice woke me from that pleasant dream; she lives right next door since she's married, so she's always at our house.

"You have a letter from Persis Gresham," she said, tossing it to me. I simply ditched that letter and ran for my own room, even though dinner was all on the table and the family had been waiting for me. For that letter from Persis linked me with the world I wanted to enter—at least, it sort of did.

Tomorrow—The Chance of a Lifetime.
